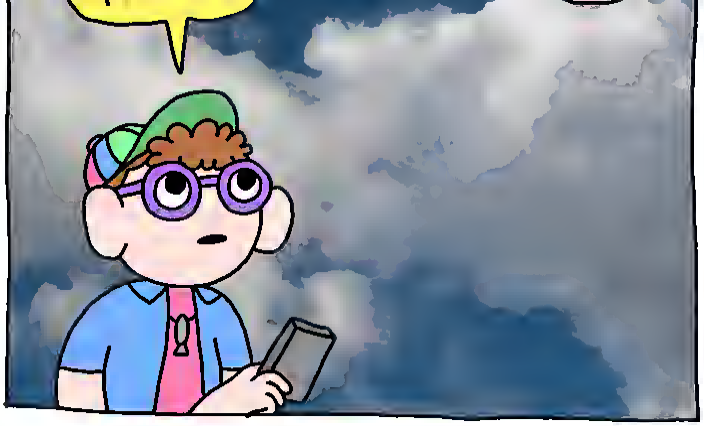
Hello
sky...

you are always there

Looking beautiful,
constantly changing...

with new scenes,
arrangements & compositions.

Today I will look at you.



I see what you were going for here.

Nice fluffiness

and I like the subtle greys.

The tension between these two elements is tantalising they drift together, yet never touch ♥
but it is a shame

the forms are so patchy.

but it feels rather heavy handed

And yet, you redeem yourself over here!

& I completely relate
to this little guy,
a small drifting blob

overall, I think you had good ideas but they were messy & inconsistent.
